Healthwatch Surrey champions the voice of local people to shape, improve and get the best from NHS, health and social care services. As an independent statutory body, they have the power to make sure decision makers listen to feedback. They are undertaking a research project which seeks to understand the barriers to online access to GP services, i.e. access through the NHS App or online forms on GP practice websites. See the flyer screenshots provided below for how to participate in this survey.

The flyer is for a survey by Healthwatch Surrey. At the top, it features the Healthwatch Surrey logo, an illustration of a smartphone displaying the NHS app, a laptop, and a stylized AI chip icon. Below these, a dark blue rounded rectangle contains three survey questions in white text. Further down, a green speech bubble graphic says 'Please share your experiences with us'. To the right of this is an illustration of a male doctor in scrubs sitting at a desk with a computer. At the bottom, another dark blue rounded rectangle contains instructions to complete the survey, a QR code, the survey link, the closing date, and contact information for a paper copy.
